

Communication & product design

These images were for communication between the US office and the Hong Kong office - to perfect a sample to show to the client (Diageo). They detail the mechanical side of the product development and the ability to produce solutions to mechanical problems. The picture below is an image of the concept to communicate it to client for further feedback for its development.

