

Motif

I developed this image of the lavender stem, as a motif for this Lavender candle for Yves Rocher. I experimented with different designs, but this was the one that the client chose. The image shows the final tin. Since then, we have incorporated this design into other items for this client - including, bags, and packaging for their lavender range.

