

Concept Development

After the success of the lighthouse coasters for Reader's Digest, we wanted to present a similar idea to Bookspan (another book club, owned by Bertelsmann). I used their logo and image of the detectives (shown below) as the basis for the design and expanded on the mystery theme with shady characters and backgrounds to complete the image. The image opposite shows the coasters separated, and all together.

